

2014 Midwest Association of Language Learning and Technology Conference

Traditional, Hybrid, and Online Teaching in Modern and Classical Languages: Exploring Differences, Creating Communities

Illinois Wesleyan University – State Farm Hall - November 15, 2014

MWALLT's mission is to: gather information with respect to a broad ranges of issues, from equipment, supplies and vendors, to operating policies and procedures, to trends and research; to assist and encourage individuals in the 12-state area, particularly those who are new to the directing of language labs; and to sponsor joint activities and projects, including influencing our national/international group (IALLT), through representation of the views of the regional membership.

8:00-9:00 State Farm Hall Foyer	On-Site Registration & Breakfast Breakfast sponsored by Pearson
9:00-9:25 State Farm Hall 102	Welcoming Remarks Christina Isabelli, conference co-host, Illinois Wesleyan University President Richard Wilson, Illinois Wesleyan University Alison Sommer, President of MWALLT, Macalester College Sonja Fritzsche - ADFL Statement on Hybrid and Online Teaching
9:30-9:55 State Farm Hall 102	Marlene Johnshoy, Alyssa Ruesch, and Frances Matos-Schultz (Center for Advanced Research on Language Acquisition, University of Minnesota) How to Prepare Teachers to Teach Online?
10:00-10:25 State Farm Hall 102	Casilde Isabelli (University of Nevada, Reno) From the Diary of a Language Program Director: The Program Challenges and Successes in Using Technology in Blended, Hybrid, Online Courses and Looking Forward to the Flipped Classroom
10:30-10:55 State Farm Hall Foyer	Mid-Morning Break
11:00-11:25 State Farm Hall 101	Clara Burgo (Loyola University Chicago) Service learning and Reflection sessions: the Use of Technology to Connect the Classroom with the Service
11:00-11:25 State Farm Hall 102	Carol Goss (Valparaiso University) The First Ten Weeks: My Partial Flip Integrating Video Content into First Year French
11:30-11:55 State Farm Hall 101	Claire Moisan (Grinnell College) Flipped Tutoring: Using Technology to Increase Proficiency in a Peer-to-Peer Language Program
11:30-11:55 State Farm Hall 102	Claudia Fernández (Knox College) Incorporating Online Resources in Integrated Performance Assessment

12:00-1:00 Joslin Atrium/ Memorial Center	Lunch Buffet
1:00-1:25 State Farm Hall 102	Business Meeting
1:30-2:25 State Farm Hall 102	Workshop Stacey Johnson and Berta Carrasco (Hope College) Student and Instructor Perspectives on a Hybrid, First-Year Language Course
2:30-2:55 State Farm Hall 101	Carmen López-Ferrero (Pompeu Fabra University) Impact of Online Learning on Academic and Professional Writing
2:30-2:55 State Farm Hall 102	Guada Cabedo-Timmons (Western Illinois University) Literature and Technology: The Use of Online Short Stories in the Classroom.
3:00-3:25 State Farm Hall Foyer	Mid-Afternoon Break
3:30-3:55 State Farm Hall 101	Haydee Taylor-Arnold (Ladue Horton Watkins High School) Teach-Tech-Talk: Engaging Diverse Learners to Achieve Proficiency in the Target Language
3:30-3:55 State Farm Hall 102	Anibal M Sánchez (University of Illinois, Springfield) Borges' "The Library of Babel" and the Universes of the Virtual.
4:00-4:25 State Farm Hall 102	Maja Grgurovic (University of Illinois at Chicago) Blended language learning: Past, Present, and Future
4:30-5:00 State Farm Hall 102	Conference Wrap-Up/General Discussion
5:30-7:00 Puran Indian Restaurant	Optional Dinner for all conference attendees (not included in registration fee) 1704 Eastland Dr. Ste 10, Bloomington, IL 61704; (309) 663-0885